Relatives showed up from California, Illinois, Michigan, New York and New Jersey. In addition, scores of other friends dropped by to pay their respects.

When a photographer appeared to take pictures of the gathering Mrs. Miller said, "I don't think he's one of my children—or is he?"

12 Holiday Traffic Fatalities on Illinois Highways

By United Press

Five members of a Jacksonville, Ill., family died in a head-on collision as Thanksgiving traffic accidents in Illinois accounted for at least 12 auto fatalities.

The Theodore H. Zimmer family was en route to La Grange, Ill., for the holiday, when their car collided with an auto driven by William Clayton, 21, also of Jacksonville, near New Berlin.

Killed were Zimmer, 60; his wife, Clarice; their son, John, 26; John's wife, Bonnie, 25, and their son Kenneth 4.

The next worst accident took the lives of two men near East St. Louis, Raymond Petrikas, St. Louis, and Ronald Ielkes, Afton, Mo. died when the car in which they were traveling left a road and crashed into a tree.

Austrian Gov't Appeals for Help as Refugees by Thousands Cross Borders

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarians fleeing Soviet terror and the threat of Siberian concentration camps poured into Austria in ever increasing numbers today and the Austrian government appealed to the world for help.

From 6,000 to 8,000 refugees were crossing the border each night, taking the facilities of the refugee-camp nation to feed and house them in near zero weather. There was no sign the flow would end.

The Russians were doing everything possible to stop them, but the Hungarians were braving Soviet bullets and freezing weather in their break for freedom. Many slumped to the ground suffering from cold and frostbite, their faces pinched with hunger.

Some had splashed through the icy border canals and their clothes had to be chopped from them. An 18-year-old girl walked all the way from Budapest on frostbitten feet, each step toward freedom bringing excruciating pain. Many were drowned, some were frozen to death.

Great airlifts were flying refugees to friendly countries throughout the world, but the need was for trains to take the thousands to nations better prepared to handle their needs.

Bruno Kreisky, undersecretary in the Austrian foreign office, told a news conference Thursday, "We call on all democratic nations to speed up help without setting any conditions." He said the flow of refugees was creating an "alarming situation."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said before leaving for Washington he would bring pressure on the United States government to take in as many refugees as possible by the end of the year. He urged again that up to 17,000 be given new homes and lives in America.

Nagy Disappears After Safe Conduct Pledge

Yugoslavia Charges 42 Others Vanish After Leaving Asylum

VIENNA (AP)—Yugoslavia charged today that deposed Premier Imre Nagy and 42 other Hungarians vanished after they left asylum in its Budapest embassy with a safe conduct guarantee from the Hungarian regime.

The Hungarians had not reached their homes today despite an agreement between Belgrade and the Moscow-backed Hungarian government that they would not be arrested, a Yugoslav spokesman said.

Foreign Undersecretary Dobrovoje Vidic warned the Hungarian charge d'affaires in Belgrade that any interference with the missing Hungarians would be regarded as a grave violation of international law.

Nagy, who became premier one month ago today, and several members of his short-lived anti-Russian government fled to asylum in the Yugoslav embassy on Nov. 4 when Russian troops invaded Budapest.

Yugoslav negotiated a safe-conduct for them Wednesday for the puppet successor government of Soviet-sponsored Premier Janos Kadar.

The 43 Hungarians—who included former Ministers of State Geza Losonsi and Ferenc Donat, as well as 15 women and 17 children—were last seen Thursday when they boarded a bus provided by Kadar's minister of public security, Ferenc Muenich.

The bus was to deliver them to their homes, but Yugoslav protests delivered today in Belgrade and Budapest said they never got there.

The bitter protest coincided with a new attack on Tito by the Soviet communist newspaper Pravda. It accused him of trying to supplant Russia as leader of the Communist world.

Hungary was still paralyzed by a two-day "total strike" and workers called for a one-hour period of mourning for the patriots who gave their lives in the nation's fight for freedom. The situation was so tense anything could happen.

Death Takes Mrs. R. G. Bond

Mrs. Mae Bond, widow of the late Dr. R. G. Bond of Harrisburg, died Thursday afternoon at San Diego, Calif., following a considerably long illness.

She had lived with her son, Dr. Emerson Bond of San Diego, for the past five or six years, until her health required hospital facilities. Dr. Bond died in 1949, and Mrs. Bond made her home in Harrisburg at the family residence at 115 South Main street for a few years following.

Attorney Lewis Bond of Peoria is another son, and he and Dr. Emerson Bond will arrive in Harrisburg Saturday. Mrs. Bond's body will be flown to St. Louis by air express and will be brought to the Harrisburg funeral home.

Services are tentatively scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the First Baptist church, of which she was long an active member. She was a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Bond was a native of Brushy township, as was Dr. Bond. She was the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, and was reared in the Neal school community.

Dr. and Mrs. Bond moved to Harrisburg early in his career as a physician and surgeon and continued their residence until his death.

First Refugees from Hungary Enjoy Thanksgiving Dinner at Camp Kilmer

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—Refugees from Hungary streamed through this gateway to freedom today at a quickening pace that was expected to bring some 500 to America by the weekend.

Swift processing at this converted Army camp sent most of Wednesday's first planeload on their way to new homes before the second and third groups totaling 148 men, women and children arrived today.

Only 18 of the first 60 remained at Kilmer, dubbed "Camp Mercy," Thursday night. With 16 other refugees from Communist terror they ate their first Thanksgiving dinner Thursday, complete with turkey and all the trimmings.

Two planeloads of Hungarians were scheduled to reach nearby McGuire Air Force Base this morning.

First One Arrives

The first, bringing 35 men, 25 women, 11 children and four infants, landed at 3 a. m.

Some of the tired travelers faced another 2,500-mile trip to the Pacific Coast on top of their 4,500 mile journey from Hungary. Others had less than 45 miles more to go. Ferenc Szuecs, 20, and Steven Kapocsi, 27, both found new homes at New Brunswick, N. J., scarcely an hour's bus ride from Camp Kilmer.

Refugees who had never heard of Thanksgiving bowed their heads and gave thanks for their escape to freedom before eating traditional Army-style turkey dinners Thursday.

Given "Historical" Menus

The meal was complete from tomato juice cocktail to candy and nuts. It began with a blessing by the Rev. Imre Gabos, former pastor of a Budapest Baptist church, who fled with his wife and two of his three children.

Mimeographed menus written in Hungarian were given to each of the 34 refugees seated in a former Army messhall. In them the Hungarians read, most of them for the first time, an explanation of the American holiday. A New Brunswick Hungarian language newspaper sent copies of an issue describing the celebration that has been observed since 1620.

"We thank our friends for the blessings that are here bestowed upon us, and for everything that you have done for us since we have been here," the Rev. Gabos intoned in Hungarian.

Then the group, many still wearing the ragged clothing they wore when they fled from Hungary, ate turkey, stuffing, cranberries, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, corn, string beans, rolls with butter, pickles, olives, carrots, celery, candy, fruit cake, nuts and pumpkin pie.

21-Nation Stand Opposed by Britain, France

U. S. Will Vote for Resolution But Will Not Be Sponsor

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States, over British and French opposition, today supported a demand by 21 nations of the Afro-Asian bloc calling for all foreign forces to get out of Egypt at once.

With British and French leaders expressing reluctance to quit the Suez Canal Zone until the United Nations emergency force has completely taken over, the Assembly headed into a new word storm with the possibility of a lengthy debate delaying a vote until Saturday.

At the same time, an odd political pairing, in view of recent debates here, brought the United States and India together as co-sponsors of a resolution empowering Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to press his negotiations for full employment of the U. N. emergency force in the Middle East and to proceed with the work of clearing the Suez Canal.

The United States will vote for the Afro-Asian "get out now" resolution directed against the Anglo-French and Israeli forces, but will not appear as a sponsor.

Britain and France were sure to oppose the measure. Britain's Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler opposed withdrawal of any forces until the U. N. police force had taken over completely in the battle area.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, informed British quarters said, was prepared to hold out against withdrawal until full freedom of navigation through the Suez Canal for all countries had been guaranteed, as was specified in the Assembly's original cease-fire-and-withdrawal resolution.

The United States was not retreating in its insistence that its western allies quit Egypt immediately. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. consulted with President Eisenhower in Washington, but their talk brought no new development in American policy. Rather, it confirmed the stand taken by the United States here since the outbreak of hostilities in Egypt.

Holiday Toll is 189

150 Killed in Traffic While Fires Claim 15

CHICAGO (AP)—A holiday death toll in excess of National Safety Council predictions grimly closed Thanksgiving Day festivities.

The council had hoped the death toll between 6 p. m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday would fall below the 110 traffic deaths for a non-holiday Thursday at this time of year.

A United Press count for the period showed 150 persons were killed in traffic accidents. Fifteen died in fires, two in a plane crash, and 22 from miscellaneous causes, for an overall holiday death toll of 189.

Michigan turned in the worst record, with 15 traffic deaths during the 30-hour period. Pennsylvania was next with 13, Illinois had 12, Ohio 9, and California 8.

The worst single accident occurred on U. S. 36 west of Springfield, Ill., where five members of one family died in a head-on collision.

Icy and snow-packed highways in some sections of the nation had been expected by safety experts to curb the fatality toll by forcing motorists to exercise extreme caution. But numerous minor skidding accidents were reported in these areas.

At Waukesha, Wis., a 17-car pileup resulted when several autos skidded out of control and blocked the road. No one was injured.

Autos Collide at Rts. 34-45 Intersection

Two cars were damaged about 11 p. m. Wednesday at the Routes 34-45 intersection near Harrisburg but nobody received more than minor injuries.

State Policeman Roy A. Lape, who with Officer Arthur Athmer investigated the collision, said an auto driven by Fred R. Glisson of Chicago, en route to Paris, Tenn., and one driven by Mrs. Opal D. Cline of Mt. Carmel, going north on Route 45, collided.

President Invokes Taft-Hartley Act to Halt 8-Day Dock Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower prepared today to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to halt the crippling Atlantic and Gulf Coast dock strike.

The President interrupted Thanksgiving to invoke the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and set up a fact-finding board to investigate the eight-day old tieup.

Board Chairman Thomas W. Holland said he hoped to have a report at the White House by late this afternoon, clearing the way for the government to seek a strike-halting injunction.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. was ready to seek the injunction in Federal Court in New York upon receipt of orders from the White House.

The injunction would halt the strike for 80 days while the International Longshoremen's Union and the shipowners try to settle the dispute.

ILA counsel Louis Waldman said in New York that the union would comply with any action taken by the government under the Taft-Hartley Act.

Invocation of Taft-Hartley machinery also appeared to have made doubtful that Harry Bridges' West Coast longshoremen would join the walkout. The West Coast union scheduled a meeting with Pacific Coast shipowners today at San Francisco in renewed wage negotiations.

The President signed the order setting up the fact-finding board shortly before attending Thanksgiving church services. Then he ate Thanksgiving Day dinner at the home of his son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

Cold Wave Extends to Florida; Erie Stranded by 25-Inch Snow

By United Press
The eastern half of the nation was caught in a cold wave which extended as far south as Florida today while Erie, Pa., dug itself out of a 25-inch snowfall.

Snow flurries were to continue today over most of the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley, with some light snow spreading into the upper and middle Mississippi Valleys.

A snowstorm dumped 25 inches of snow on Erie, stranding hundreds of motorists on Thanksgiving. Other sections around Erie reported eight to 10 inches of snow.

Mayor Arthur Gardner, however, was considering a declaration of an emergency as industry closed down, idling about 17,000 workers. The big task confronting the Keystone State city was clearing of the huge snowfall from streets and sidewalks.

Air traffic was halted and most highways closed in the area.

Light snowfalls—usually an inch or less—covered the eastern portions of the northern Great Plains and the middle Mississippi Valley. Grand Marais, Mich., however, reported 15 inches of snow on the ground while a 10-inch blanket covered the area around Marquette, Mich.

The most extreme blasts of the cold wave spread across the nation east of the Mississippi descended on the Florida peninsula. Frost covered the north and central portions of the state.

Winter Resorts Shiver
Meanwhile, the "Gold Coast" of southeast Florida—where winter tourists were beginning to arrive—shivered in unseasonable 45 to 55 degree weather Thursday.

Temperatures in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions were about 10 degrees lower. Kinross Airport at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., reported it was four degrees below zero early today.

A warming trend, however, was in prospect. Weathermen said warmer temperatures could be expected in the plains states and all of the Mississippi Valley except the extreme eastern portion.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Hungarians Hate U. S. A. For Boasting Revolt. Then Backing Down: Truman In '52 Warned Against Arousing False Hopes Of Liberation; U. S. Helped Russian Aggressors By U. N. Stalling.

WASHINGTON. — News men in southeast Europe report that, next to Russia, the United States is the most hated nation in Hungary. Freedom fighters spit when the name America is mentioned. "You have been telling us to revolt," they are reported as saying. "Yet when we face Russian tanks, you stand by and watch them crush us."

Much of this unfair, some of it inevitable. Turmoil inside the satellite countries was bound to come. But to see who had the greatest long-range view of the satellite problem, let's take a look at the record—among others that of Harry S. Truman.

Mr. Truman is the man who branded me with initials now currently featured in the Saturday Evening Post under the caption "Confessions of 'An S. O. B.'". I owe him no debt of gratitude.

Despite this I should like to call attention to some farsightedness on Harry's part when he warned the American people, September 2, 1952, of exactly what is now taking place in Hungary.

"Nothing could be worse," said Truman, "than to raise false hopes of this (insurrection) in eastern Europe. Nothing could be worse than to incite uprisings that could only end by giving a new crop of victims to the Soviet executioners."

Truman, then President of the United States, was replying to two speeches made by John Foster Dulles and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower encouraging the satellite nations and virtually, if not actually, promising them aid.

Sneaking in Buffalo Aug. 27, 1952, in a speech obviously aimed at winning Buffalo's huge Polish-American vote, Dr. Eisenhower said that if the Republicans were elected the Voice of America would begin to stir up the resistance spirit behind the Iron Curtain, letting the Poles, Czechs and others know they had the moral backing of the United States.

"Resistance movements would spring up among patriots who could be supplied and integrated via air-drops," Dulles pledged.

Answering Averell Harriman, who had warned of dangers in the "Eisenhower policy of liberation," Dulles said:

"It is nonsense for Mr. Harriman to say that General Eisenhower's liberation policy is a trap and would lead to premature uprisings and more Warsaw massacres. The only trap I see is that in the Democratic platform which says they look forward to liberation of these peoples but they aren't willing to do anything about it. That's a trap to get votes."

IKE WENT OUT ON LIMB

General Eisenhower went just about as far in a speech before the American Legion in New York, Aug. 25. This was what especially aroused Harry Truman.

"The American conscience can never know peace until these people are restored to being masters of their own fate," the general began rather mildly. He also talked about man's brotherhood under the fatherhood of God and so on. Then he warmed up.

"We can never rest," he said, "and we must so inform the world, including the Kremlin—that until the enslaved nations of the world have the fullness of freedom, the right to choose their own path, that then and then only can we say that there is a possible way of living peacefully with communism in the world."

The President told his press conference last week that his administration had never urged the satellite peoples to armed revolt. True, he never used that word. But here is exactly what he said:

"We must tell the Kremlin that never shall we desist in our aid to every man and woman of those shackled lands who seeks refuge with us, any man who keeps burning among his own people the flame of freedom or is dedicated to the liberation of his fellow men."

TRUMAN'S FIERY REPLY

To this, former President Truman, speaking at Parkersburg, W. Va., September 2, replied:

"The fate of the people in the Soviet borderland is one of the greatest tragedies of our time... We shall never forget these people. But we shall never treat their plight... as matters of partisan debate. Millions upon millions of human beings are going through dreadful agony, and it is not for us to play cheap politics with their needs and fears and hopes. Yet that is exactly what these Republicans have begun to do.

"They are telling us we must undertake to liberate these people and do it right now... Maybe the Republicans don't realize this, but the people who are on the spot in Europe know very well that talk of liberation under present circumstances is war talk.

"All Europeans know quite well that insurrection. In the Soviet borderlands could only be successful with armed support from the outside world.

"If the Republicans don't mean to give that armed support—and I feel sure they don't—then they are playing cruel, gutter politics with the lives of countless good men and women behind the iron curtain.

"Surely," concluded Mr. Truman from the rear of his train in Parkersburg, W. Va., "the Republicans must know that the iron curtain and the Kremlin walls will not come tumbling down from a few blasts on a campaign trumpet."

OUR VOICE IS DELAYED

On September 3, one day after reading the Truman speech, John Foster Dulles held a press conference at which he replied that the Truman "mood of weakness, timidity, and appeasement is the sure road to war."

Here is the last tragic chapter in the story of revolt behind the iron curtain:

On October 30 the Hungarian rebels had almost pushed Russian forces out of Budapest. Moscow indicated it would appease.

On November 3 the U. N. called for a vote of censure of Moscow. The U. N. had been procrastinating all week.

Soviet delegates on November 3 argued that the security council should not act that day. Things were settling down in Hungary, the U. N. should not intervene, they said.

Other delegates disagreed. Delegate after delegate urged immediate action. Finally, spoke U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge:

"We believe," he said, "that adjournment for a day or two would give a real opportunity to the Hungarian government to carry out its announced decision to arrange for an orderly and immediate evacuation of all Soviet troops. In this spirit I would be willing to adjourn until tomorrow or the next day."

That virtually ended the discussion. The Australian delegate argued vigorously against Lodge, urged the council not to adjourn but to act immediately.

There was a vote. The U. S. A. voted against Australia and for the Soviet.

Before the next day dawned, new Soviet armored divisions were crushing Hungary.

The Truman administration made mistakes in handling Russia. So has the Eisenhower administration. Anyway, that is the record.

The Brutal Truth

There will be no more debate in the world on the question whether the Russians "really mean it" when they smile and talk peace. They have given the answer in Hungary—and they wrote it in the blood of innocent people.

The next time the Soviet Union tries to pull its standard "peace" fraud, millions across the earth will remember, among other things:

Wanton Russian shelling and firing upon hospitals, Red Cross units, doctors and nurses in strife-torn Budapest.

Wholesale assault on the homes of Hungarians there and in many other cities, as the brutal troops searched out rebels.

The gunning down of hundreds of already surrendered rebel fighters as they emerged from hideouts and van-gue points.

The deporting to Russia of thousands of young Hungarian freedom fighters who probably will never be seen or heard of again in their native land.

The use of starvation as a calculated weapon of war to bring fighting and striking Hungarians to their knees.

Peace? The Kremlin can't even spell it in Russian. They've given the game away and shown themselves to all the world for what they really are.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

Memory is determined largely by the repetition of telling. The poems and the scripture which we memorized as children remain with us because we repeated them so many times. We said the lines to our parents, to our teachers and to ourselves.

We rebelled at the idea of memorizing. We wanted to know why we had to learn such "nonsense." Sometimes we did not understand the meaning of the words. But as we went through life we discovered applications of the thoughts to problems and to daily living.

"The wasted time" of yesterday became a framework of ideals, ambitions and better living for today. The mottoes and religious quotations which we learned became stabilizers when we found ourselves tossed on the stormy sea of materialism.

The experiences which we have had and which we have told to others or retold to ourselves have helped to determine our later patterns of life. Some of these experiences have not been good, and the repetition of telling these rough, disheartening or degrading experiences has not influenced our lives for the better.

We must choose wisely the experiences which we relate. We must witness to others for good and for God. Our witness may not be long remembered by others, but our witness will strengthen the structure of our own lives for the future.

Everything's New including the View

in each '57 Buick—SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER

WE DON'T MEAN just new this or new that. We mean new everything.

We mean everything you can't see, as well as everything you can.

And even the "seeing" is new—for the new, wider, rakishly angled panoramic windshield with its 200 more square inches of glass area widens the forward view of all passengers.

Take other examples.

Its styling is new. Never before have you seen a Buick like this one—sleek and stunning, and low as a cat-crouch.

Its engine is new. Never has any Buick boasted so big, so powerful, so obedient an engine as the purring V8 engine that gingers every '57 Buick.

Its performance is new—and right here we mean new like nothing else you ever experienced before.

For now, there's a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo* so instant in action, so smooth and flexible throughout the entire "Drive" range—the need for "Low" is virtually eliminated.

But there's even more to the newness of every '57 Buick.

There's a completely new chassis that gives the car the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—for a steadier, safer ride. And a new kind of ball-joint suspension for surer handling, safer cornering, and a wonderful new levelized braking.

There's a new safety instrument panel, new dip-center safety steering wheel—even an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that lets you know when you reach the miles-per-hour you've preset for yourself.

Of course, the only way to get the whole, new wonderful story is to take the wheel and let this big new car do its own talking.

And that's something we'll be most happy to arrange first chance you get. Come in today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

Santa Growing Practical

New Toys are Tailored to Modern Play

This Christmas, toy designers have taken special inspiration from vocational guidance experts. Santa's 1956 pack, slated to top last year's record billion-dollar total, is crammed full of new kits that provide down-to-earth training in dozens of careers from baby sitting to guided missile projects.

"Do-and-learn gets top billing in the new toy showings," reports Melvin Freud, president of Toy Guidance Council, which has specialized for years in making it easier for shoppers to get the toys children need for all-round development.

"American toys give broader scope than ever before to creative play activities. Prices are about the same as last year."

Illustrating the practical trend in the Yuletide showings are kits which will give Junior basic training in such diverse skills as operating an atomic-powered submarine, running a radar center, managing a bank, manipulating an electronic signal system, qualifying as a soup chef, designing skyscrapers or building a sports car.

Sister is slated for summa cum laude honors as an expert baby hobby kits that reproduce historic boats, trains and vehicles. Canopied beds have reappeared in doll furniture.

The latest in playroom careers is a velocipede modeled after a telephone repair truck, complete with tool kit and safety belt.

The radio bike, which has a broad-range radio encased in the body, boasts tamper-proof screws to make sure that Junior has music wherever he may park.

New for firehouse enthusiasts is a suburban fire pump, voted an outstanding example of American toy production for 1956, by Toy Guidance Council. Authentically styled, it actually shoots a continuous stream of water supplied by operating a hydrant that screws right on the garden hose. Valve control on the hydrant permits regulation of the water flow through the pumper and out of the fire hose.

Junior's fascination with rockets and guided missiles is evidenced by a variety of electronic launching stations and games that are keyed to latest developments in this phase of national defense. "The Brain" is an awe-inspiring electronic device that performs in 60 different ways and also launches guided missiles.

New in the stuffed animal kingdom is a monkey man, who not only has an accordion but a small monkey to do tricks.

There are also a variety of talented robot toys. One yips when his nose is tweaked, and cavorts in a variety of ways.

The vogue for range-riding equipment turns out to be a sturdy perennial with the playroom crowd. Santa's pack will be filled with many new versions of the horse, the frontier-style rifle and miniature versions of frontier stockades and Indian encampments.

New in musical instruments is an authentic banjo, with a helpful chord selector, which teams well with toyland guitars in producing cowboy-style campfire melodies.

A novel thrill for young music lovers is a set of mission bells, which are true in tone, so that making carillon music is an easy playground project.

The world of insects, always fascinating to small fry, has provided inspiration for a wide variety of push and pull toys, some of them geared to do ingenious tricks. Caterpillars and grasshopper toys are new favorites.

Find Useful Gift In Power Mower

Looking for an out-of-the-ordinary gift for Dad, something he wants but hesitates to buy for himself?

One of the new rotary-type lawn mowers will lighten his work next summer and make him the envy of the neighbors.

The Daily Register 30c a week

AUTHENTIC BANJO and guitar make music easy and fun. Guitar has attachment that produces chords easily. Banjo is 22 inches long, has drum body with eight lugs to regulate tension of calf-skin top for true tonal quality.

FAIR EXCHANGE will allow as many as five children to play telephone at one time. Electronic devices route calls through quickly. Added play value is in the secret coder within cones on right side of switchboard.

All the Family Will Enjoy Piano

If you want a "once in a lifetime" gift for your family this year, consider a piano. Not only are pianos handsome pieces of furniture but they can open a whole new way of life for you and your family.

As the basic music instrument the piano can awaken in your family the natural interest everybody has in music as well as adding a distinctive and decorative piece of furniture to your home.

New piano teaching methods allow you to begin playing simple tunes after the first lesson and have you feeling like an accomplished pianist after a few months. If you already know how to play the piano but have neglected it because you haven't a piano in your home, this Christmas would be a good time to renew your enjoyment of music.

Thieves Steal

Huge Christmas Tree

DETROIT (UP)—Thieves have stolen a Christmas tree the city of Detroit planned to set up in front of one of its public buildings. The tree and its roots, which had been loosened in preparation for moving, weighed four tons.

EDIBLE PACKING

When sending packages of perishable foods through the mails, pack them with popcorn or peanuts in the shell. These are light in weight, will prevent rattling and can also be eaten and enjoyed by the recipient.

Keeps Perch

Muscles in a bird's legs are so arranged that the bird cannot fall off its perch while it is asleep. The muscles keep the toes bent while the bird is on the perch and the toes cannot open until it raises itself into the air.

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

They "flattened" Yukon mountains with the most modern truck V8's of all!

Rated G.V.W. of these payload-carrying heavyweights goes all the way up to 32,000 pounds!

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!

Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. They hauled typical loads up and down towering grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck was forced to drop out or turn back! Stop by and see them soon!

Dolls Teach Children Good Habits

This Christmas, America's talented dolls, having already qualified as nearly human, are recruited to give parents help in teaching children the basics of health, good grooming, dressing and home decoration.

As a sample of this year's dolls, the Toy Guidance Council's 1956 Prestige selections not only have high-style wardrobes, completely accessorized, but are also equipped with health-protecting and grooming equipment, scaled to size.

Toys for dolls have developed as an ingenious new specialty. Dolls are provided with miniatures of favorite childhood play-things, designed in exact proportion to the doll.

The doll population, of course, continues to astound adults by growing more and more lifelike. It walks, kisses, drinks, burps, etc. Many perform with the muscular flexibility of ballet stars. The impact of the larger families growing common in America is shown by the doll families in assorted sizes.

In addition to their almost-to-close-to-human performance, the doll stars of 1956 are designed to encourage their owners to observe health care and good grooming routines. Doll wardrobes and suitable closets, it's hoped, will keep young owners busy at neatening up both little and big closets.

Junior beauticians, for example, have more scope than before. Dolls have firmly rooted synthetic hair in the Prestige selections. Vigorous brushing, constant shampooing and setting will not damage the hair. The theory is that the young lady will want a shampoo herself when her doll gets one.

The sleepy doll, long a standard, to sleep better than ever in a version by Knickerbocker. The doll, of vinyl, dressed in blanket material, has tightly closed eyes. This should encourage slumber and therefore good health in moppets.

The Life Saver doll by Horsman has candy-colored hair and comes with candy to match. No one knows what good habit this encourages, unless it's eating candy.

The Bannister Baby provides a

HOME IS WHERE THE DOLLS ARE and this one provides plenty of room for bedroom suite and decoration for this year's larger dolls and accessibility to the young lady who will be the homemaker. This suite includes: bookcase, bed, wardrobe, chest, vanity and bench. If you buy, make sure the construction is sturdy enough to take rough wear.

complete training course for future baby sitters. It comes with well-matched accessories for total care of the imaginary infant.

Nina, the ballerina, heads the list of musically educated dolls. This doll not only does bends and splits but also turns her head and walks. Her professional wardrobe is glamorous enough to satisfy the theater-eager child and her street wardrobe should impress on the young owner that one needs to keep up appearances.

The eight-inch doll is having a great vogue this year, as is evidenced by the prominence of this size in the Prestige collection.

Doll furniture, for the first time, is available completely scaled to popular doll sizes.

One maker, Doepke, long famous as a maker of model toys for boys, has entered the women's world with an add-a-piece collection of doll furniture.

The furniture is built for the eight, 10 and 11-inch dolls. The bedroom suite is the first set in the line. It's done in turquoise blue, tan on ivory and black accents.

The suite includes a bookcase, bed, wardrobe, chest, double chest, desk and chair, vanity and bench. The bed is made of steel with a foam mattress, thereby proving that daddy is correct when he says the dolls live better than he does. The vice-president of the company, Fred W. Doepke, points out the virtues of his line, which are typical of what doll makers have in mind this year: "The furniture has educational value in that it teaches basic housekeeping and orderliness."

EVERYTHING ABOUT this sleepy-time doll suggests rest and bed-time contentment. Her eyes are tightly shut. Her clothing is blanket-material vinyl. She'll become a constant bedroom companion.

Two Granted Stays of Execution

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two Indiana State Prison inmates celebrated Thanksgiving Day with news that their death in the electric chair was postponed for several more weeks.

The Indiana Supreme Court granted stays of execution to Leslie Irvin, Evansville, and Elmer J. Flowers, Terre Haute, both prisoners at the Michigan City institution.

Irvin, convicted of first degree murder in one of the six slayings he confessed in a crime spree in and near Evansville, was granted a stay until March 29. An earlier Supreme Court stay would have run out Dec. 1.

Execution of Flowers was postponed until Feb. 15. It was the third stay following Flowers' first degree murder conviction for the fatal shooting of his former wife, Ione.

Biggest Turkey Deflated

NEW YORK (AP) — Even the country's biggest turkey became unstuffed Thursday. "Gorgeous Gobbler," a 45-foot, 305-pound balloon, stuffed with 13,500 cubic feet of helium was punctured and deflated during the Macy's parade when strong winds blew it into lamp posts and trees.

Name Chairmen For $260,500 Wesley Building

District chairmen were announced today for a "crusade" to raise $260,500 in the Southern Illinois Methodist Church conference for constructing a new Wesley Foundation building adjacent to the campus of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Charles E. Skiles, Mt. Carmel, conference general chairman for the campaign, said the new chairmen will organize the project in the East St. Louis, Carbondale, Harrisburg and Olney districts. Conference-wide chairmen were announced earlier.

Everett H. Murphy, Former Resident Of Raleigh, Dies

Everett H. Murphy, 70, died at 5 p. m. Wednesday in Oshkosh, Wis. He formerly resided in Raleigh.

The body was returned to Eldorado to the Eldorado funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. Howard Todd Taylor will officiate and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

He leaves one brother, Lawrence A. Murphy, Wood River, and three sisters: Mrs. Bill (Blanch) Bowers of Raleigh, Mrs. Mary Fife and Mrs. Lee Stricklin, both of Alton.

Top Democratic Committee Officials to Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of the Democratic National Committee will hold a "post mortem" meeting here next Monday and Tuesday to discuss party finances and to play for the future.

The 14-member executive committee session was called by National Chairman Paul M. Butler "to discuss and recommend fund raising projects to help pay off the party's campaign debt and outline the committee's program for the coming months."

The committee's announcement made no mention of any discussion of a change in the party's leadership. It pointed out, however, that Butler "recently announced that he intends to remain as national chairman."

It was known that some party leaders are disenchanted with Butler's performance as national chairman, despite the fact that the Democrats captured both the House and Senate in the recent elections.

James F. Finnegan, campaign director for Adlai E. Stevenson, has been most frequently mentioned as a likely successor to Butler.

Robinson City Council Boosts Property Taxes

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — A tax increase was served up to local property owners by the City Council on Thanksgiving eve.

The council approved hiking the general corporate rate about 13 cents per $100 valuation, or from about 20 cents to 33 cents, the maximum allowed by state law.

In 1954, the city received $32,725 in taxes for general corporate purposes from the old rate. Based on that figure and with new valuations, the new rate is expected to bring over $54,000.

The city has had to spend anticipated taxes to operate. Citizens voted strongly against a 1-2 cent sales tax in an advisory referendum.

The Southern Illinois Conference is launching the campaign to obtain funds as soon as possible for a new Wesley Foundation building adjacent to the campus of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Charles E. Skiles, Mt. Carmel, conference general chairman for the campaign, said the new chairmen will organize the project in the East St. Louis, Carbondale, Harrisburg and Olney districts. Conference-wide chairmen were announced earlier.

Display at Public Library for National Children's Book Week

"It's Always Book Time" will be the slogan for the 36th annual celebration of National Children's Book Week which is Nov. 25 thru Dec. 1, sponsored by the Children's Book Council to encourage good reading for youngsters.

The Mitchell-Carnegie public library has a display for the children, also many new books for them, including pre-kindergarten, primary and upper grade levels.

The book week poster is an enchanting landscape painted by author-illustrator Leonard Weisgard, 1947 Caldecott medal winner. There are colorful bookmarks and book week streamers to appeal to the three age groups of reading children.

Fumes Explode, Mother Killed

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — A mother was killed and her husband severely burnt when gas fumes exploded in their one-story house.

Mrs. June Dennis, 29, and her husband, Robert, 28, were trapped in the house with their three children when the explosion shook the home Thursday.

Dennis told police he had been cleaning the gas tank of his auto in the utility room, and when the blast occurred, he stumbled from the house with the children. He said he thought his wife had followed him out, but her body was later discovered on the floor.

Question Wife in Arsenic Deaths

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Police sought today to learn whether a mysterious illness that killed a fruit picker and at least two of his 10 children was arsenic poisoning.

The fruit picker's wife—the only member of the family not dead or ill—was taken into custody Thursday night for questioning.

Police said the mysterious illness struck only 12 days ago at William Kidwell's house at nearby Kearneysville, W. Va. Police described the house as broken down and filthy.

Two Kidwell children—one-year-old Thomas and two-year-old Charles—died early this week. A 10-week-old Kidwell child died earlier this month. Kidwell died Thursday.

The seven other children are hospitalized at Washington County General Hospital in Hagerstown. One child was reported in critical condition.

Police said traces of arsenic were found in the bodies of Thomas and Charles.

Eden to Leave For Jamaica

LONDON (AP) — Ailing Prime Minister Anthony Eden flies today to Jamaica for a long rest, leaving the fate of the divided Conservative Party and perhaps his own political future in the hands of his deputy, R. A. Butler.

A crisis within the party, shaken by lack of a concrete policy in the Middle East, was postponed at least until the return of Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd from his mission to the United Nations.

Only assurances there will be no sellout in Suez kept the crisis from growing into a full-scale revolt within the party. Butler, appointed by Eden to lead the government during his illness, worked feverishly Thursday night to keep 50 rightwing rebels from revolting.

Butler, majority leader in the House of Commons, said, "We are not prepared to withdraw from Suez until we consider the U. N. policy force is competent to discharge the task which the General Assembly has given it to do."

Tanker Planes Help Battle Brush Fire

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Seven aerial tanker planes were used today in an attempt to control a five-day brush fire which has blackened more than 13,000 acres in mountains near here.

The planes joined more than 1,000 tired and dirty firefighters battling the blaze on a 10-mile front. The planes were used to dump a borax-and-water mixture on the raging eastern flank of the fire.

Reunion Smash Hit

ITHACA, Mich. (AP) — Alvin Snyder of Ithaca got half way to the home of his cousin, Carl Litweller, in nearby Middleton for Thanksgiving dinner when he met Carl headed for his house for the same purpose.

While they stood by their parked cars deciding what to do, Alvin's brother, Verle, came along in his car and crashed into the parked autos. No injuries but $850 damage to the cars.

Operators of Little Egypt Food Plan Indicted

McLEANSBORO, Ill. — Indictments charging that Silio Timmo and Eugene Woolsey, who have operated the Little Egypt Wholesale Food Plan in southern Illinois, failed to deliver amounts and types of foods contracted and made false representations as to the transactions, have been returned by a Hamilton county grand jury.

The two were released on $2,000 bonds on each count and more recently additional information have been filed against them in Hamilton county court.

The informations, filed against Timmo, Woolsey and the Norman Acceptance Corp. of Chicago, charge that the defendants illegally made demands for wage assignments on employers of H. J. Blades, Kenneth Coulter, L. T. Guffey, Layman Reed and Earl Darnell, all residents of Hamilton county.

Later, however, the information alleges the acceptance corporation illegally demanded the wages.

Little Egypt operated in Harrisburg for a short time.

Att'y Browning Clears Self of Contempt Action

Appears Before Federal Jury, Says He Will Testify

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorney J. Roy Browning, key figure in a renewed investigation into the Hodge scandal, purged himself of possible contempt proceedings today when he announced he would testify before a federal grand jury.

Browning appeared before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan in response to a court order to show cause why he should not be held in contempt. Sullivan issued the order Wednesday after Browning failed to answer a subpoena and appear before the grand jury Tuesday.

The judge dismissed the proceedings today when Browning promised to cooperate.

In a raspy voice, Browning told the court he has undergone two operations for throat cancer and was in no condition to go before the grand jury Tuesday.

He said he had been "hounded by newspapers" and failed to show up for Tuesday's grand jury session because he had lost his voice and needed a rest.

He said he was served the federal subpoena last Monday and on the same day was subpoenaed to appear before the Sangamon County grand jury in Springfield. Also on Monday, he said he received a request to appear before the Sangamon County state's attorney

War Vet Begins Slugging Match With Elvis Presley

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Louis Ballint, 19, a Toledo war veteran, began a slugging match with hip-swinging singer Elvis Presley here early today, but friends broke up the fight before either was injured seriously.

Ballint, who said he became jealous when he returned home from service several months ago and discovered his wife was carrying Presley's picture in her wallet, accosted the singer at his hotel room following his performances here Thursday.

Ballint started swinging and so did Presley, but friends of Presley stopped the fight. Ballint, father of two children, was booked on a charge of creating a disturbance.

for an interview, and he also got a summons to appear before the Securities & Exchange Commission.

He said he was overworked and distraught, and on Tuesday when he lost his voice he decided to go into seclusion for a rest.

"I had no intention to disobey the processes of this court," he said.

He was wanted for questioning in connection with two checks totaling $15,000 made out to him by the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co.

Albert E. Jenner Jr., special assistant attorney general for the State Budgetary Commission, said that Browning told him a $5,000 check from the bank was for "legal services" but that a $10,000 check was "passed on to others."

Jenner also said Browning told him he "couldn't bring himself" to divulge the names of the others.

CHRISTMAS MORNING can bring useful gifts. She's received a pair of all-weather mules and a taupe bag of reversed calf trimmed in black. His gift: a pair of moccasins that he'll use for lounging and walking.

Religious Toys

By NEA Service
NEW YORK — (NEA) — New to Christmas toy selection are religious games. Reminiscent of the way America in the depression-

1930's took to Monopoly, games dealing with the Bible are growing in popularity. The 73-year-old Parker Brothers company, for example, is bringing out "Going To Jerusalem"—its first religious game in over 40 years.

Shun Ultrapractical in Clothing Gift

Women love to get clothes for Christmas. But the right kind. The trick in selecting clothes for a gal, be she wife, mother, daughter or sister, is avoiding the ultrapractical, yet selecting things she really can use. The second secret is sticking to things where one can be sure of size and taste.

Sweaters and ultra-festive blouses are welcome. Sizes here can be either the 32-34 variety or the same as the dress sizes: 12-14, etc. Look in the neck of a favorite sweater or blouse for the correct size. But don't buy the sweater in the blouse size, as women generally wear a size larger in sweaters to get that just-right fit.

Lovely sweaters of lambs wool, fur and nylon, decorated to a fare-thee-well, are made by Kingsley of Lampl. Skirts by the same company go with the sweaters, but a gift certificate is a sound approach to a skirt, since both length and girth are involved.

Handbags are delightful. Keep in mind whether the woman in question complains that her present bag is too big or too small and what kind of a handle she wants. Leather in lush colors is popular this year, as always. Leather handbags run from the modestly-priced to the really knock-out range, so pace your wallet accordingly.

DECORATED SWEATERS for decorative girls. You're always safe with this kind of gift—to be worn with casual dress. Skirts are more difficult to buy. Good idea: get a gift certificate and let her select after Christmas.

"barely there" seamless ones fall in this well-received category.

One husband has a wise approach to his wife's clothing problem. In addition to the accessories and easily-fitted items he puts under the tree, he each year provides her with an outfit to wear during the holiday season. He takes her to the store of her choice before the rush is on and lets her pick it out. A wise choice in a gift bought this way is a brocade costume by Ade Schrader in Avisco rayon and cotton. Silver threads make it party wear.

Gloves and belts are fun for a woman to get. Driving gloves are fine, but really luxurious dress ones fill a woman with the feeling she's glamorous.

BROCADE of rayon and cotton with silver threads is used by Ade Schrader for a holiday party dress.

HAPPY the gal who gets stockings. This one received extra-sheer seamless hose from her husband.

Movies Give New Dimension

If there's no movie camera in the household, what better gift to capture the motion and fun of the holidays? A new Brownie movie camera, that's almost as easy to use as a box camera, costs less than $30. It's possible to take up to 50 average-length movie scenes in sparkling color on a single roll of inexpensive 8mm film. The American National Red Cross first was organized in 1881 as the American Association of the Red Cross by Clara Barton, founder and first president.

Designed also for low-cost family movies, the 8mm Brownie movie turret camera offers a three-lens range at a one-lens price—$79.50. The turret may be simply turned for regular, wide-angle or telephoto movies.

The rose, a sea bird, nests in the cliffs of volcano walls in Hawaii National Park, Hawaii. This bird also is known as the booby because its shrill whistle resembles that of a boatwain's pipe.

Do's and Don'ts for Selecting Toys

Here are some do's and don'ts on buying toys from Dr. Philip Lewis of the Chicago Board of Education, a member of the Toy Guidance Council's advisory board. They will make it easier for Assistant Santas to make a wise choice of playthings for the children on their Christmas lists.

Don't wait till the last week. Toys are important tools of child development and deserve careful selection.

Do plan to do your toy shopping first and take time to read leaflets describing children's play needs at different age levels which most good toy departments have.

Don't buy toys just because they intrigue your eye. Do study manufacturers' tags and box instructions to determine age appeal. Remember age suitability of any toy is a major safety factor.

Don't buy toys for just one child in a family. Do give all the children in the family some toy remembrance, although they need not be of equal value. The toddler, for example, will be happy with push and pull toys and won't envy the more expensive hobby kit you select for an older brother.

Don't arbitrarily refuse to cater to a boy's wish for a housekeeping toy, or a girl's request for a cowboy costume.

Do remember that boys and girls have the same play interests up to six. Boys enjoy playing with dolls, cooking sets and other homemaking toys and benefit from imitating such familiar family activities. Girls enjoy Wild West play and benefit from sharing such dramatic play with their brothers.

Don't concentrate your toy purchases all at one counter, just because it's easier for you to complete your gift list in a hurry.

Do consider the fact that each child needs a variety of toys for all-around development, and select toys to meet his needs for different play activities.

Don't buy a very large truck for a child you know lives on an upper floor of an apartment.

Do consider the child's home and pick playthings that will be appropriate to his surroundings.

Don't feel "lost" if you are buying for a child you are not acquainted with.

Do observe play interests of children the same age. If the parents are interested in music, chances are that musical toys will be especially enjoyed by their child.

If parents are enthusiastic about sports, games related to sports are likely to make a hit with junior.

Don't cross a big family of youngsters off your list, because you can't manage large gifts for all.

Do consider a purchase of group interest, such as a large building set, and provide each child with a set of different figures, or miniature furniture, to add the personal touch.

Locomotive Plays A Tinkling Tune

Santa is modernizing one of the traditional gifts of the Yuletide. A music box which plays "On the Atchison, Topeka, and the Santa Fe" comes in the form of a diesel locomotive set on a base. It is available from B. C. Moses in Houston, Tex.

The same company is also bringing the Christmas card up to date. It is a jigsaw puzzle, mailed in a bag. When put together it reveals a yule message and sender's name.

ANCIENT SYMBOL

The use of mistletoe antedates Christianity. It is known that it was used by the Druids of England, and was adopted by the early English Christian church. Then it was a symbol of peace and good will.

GIFT OF LUXURY

Hard soap your friends at Christmas. Rich and delicately scented soaps in gift wrappings make ideal gifts. Pick a brand that spells luxury. It's something that few people buy for themselves.

FROZEN FOOD LOCKERS PAY

YULE LOG CUSTOM

The Yule log represents the ancient custom of lighting huge fires during the festivals that celebrated the Winter Solstice.

That name comes from the Yule rites of North European countries, and eventually burning of the log became part of Christmas lore.

THE LITTLE PLYMOUTH IS SURROUNDED by a gigantic world of auto accessories that make wonderful gifts for the car-owner. Suggestions range from the luxury of a picnic jug to the practical first aid kit to the reminder of a cleaning brush. One caution: if the car's too comfortable, he'll never come home.

Make it Merry

When you are making plans for the Christmas celebration why not put at the head of your list, "Make it a fireproof holiday?"

Probably at no other time of the year are there as many extra hazards in the average American home. To list all such fire hazards would take a considerable amount of space but the major ones, according to fire-prevention experts in the Kemper Insurance Group, are: Christmas trees, Christmas decorations and wrappings, and electrically operated toys. Forethought, a watchful eye and precautions that are practically elementary are the best fire-prevention methods, the experts say. Here are some of their specific suggestions for a fireproof holiday:

First of all, gather the family together—both youngsters and adults—and let the head of the house explain the additional fire hazards that occur at Christmas time, obtaining a promise from each one to do his or her part in the Yuletide safety campaign.

Select Christmas decorations that are noncombustible. Most stores carry flameproofed decorations. Insist on them. Get your Christmas tree lights out of storage early and inspect them for loose connections and frayed cords. If they aren't in near-perfect condition, don't them. Every year, hundreds and hundreds of fires are started by defective strings of lights that have been in the family for years and should have been thrown away.

When buying electrically operated toys make sure they bear the familiar "UL" label of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories. Be especially wary of celluloid toys.

Smokers' Gifts Attractive and Easy to Select

Gifts for the smoker are easy to pick, since smoking is a luxury, though many smokers would deny it.

The cigar smoker has a whole raft of "necessities" from which his family may pick a gift, according to the Cigar Institute of America. Gifts for the cigar smoker are both decorative and functional.

A cigar cutter for the table has an actual white walrus tusk for its handle. Humidors, so necessary for preserving the freshness and fragrance of cigars, come in all price ranges, in all shapes and colors. A distinguished one is in fine blond Florentine leather. It has gold tooling on it. A matching ash tray, big enough for a man, completes the ensemble.

A new design in table lighters may also please. It's done in chrome in the form of a miniature tankard and burns with a cigar-sized flame.

And, of course, there's always the possibility of a box of his favorite cigars.

Gifts for the cigarette smoker are also available in plenty. For the desk, there's a combination unit that holds ash tray, lighter and cork-lined cigarette box.

Cigarette cases for the pocket come in leathers to match the billfold to make a nice dual gift. This kind of item can be managed, financially, by a brother and a sister. They also come in bright plaids for use with sportswear or during a fishing trip.

Big ash trays delight men, who find most women's choices too small or too shallow. The man who likes patio living in warmer weather would appreciate a deep, windproof ash tray. Many

Safe for Baby Are Fabric Ornaments

In the best old-fashioned Yuletide tradition, it's fun and inexpensive to make tree decorations at home. A sparkling and safe Christmas tree to delight tradition-minded grownups and participation-minded youngsters can be trimmed with ornaments made at home on the sewing machine.

Fabric ornaments of felt and velvet, satin and silk designs cut in Christmas shapes have been designed by the Pfaff Sewing Institute.

They suggest bell, star, cornucopia, stocking or pine-tree shapes. They can be cut from fabric scraps that have been saved, or special, Christmas fabrics can be bought. Most of the above shapes can be cut around cookie cutters serving as patterns.

In addition, angels, candles, reindeer, candy canes and wreaths can be cut from freehand patterns or around pictures cut out of the paper. Talent counts for very little, imagination in selection of fabric and decorations counts for much.

Some of the shapes, including the stocking and cornucopia, should be cut double so they can actually hold cellophane-wrapped candy or doll-sized gifts. After all are cut, the box of trimmings should be hauled out. Embroidery, sequin fancies, sparkling glitter, metallic thread and braid and the strings of miniature Christmas balls make gala trims.

The designers point out that the Pfaff machine does zigzag stitches and automatic embroidery which attaches the decoration easily and decorates at the same time.

Imaginative families may see possibilities in making peaked hats for extra-large Christmas balls. They may be held down with rubber cement. Faces may be painted on the balls with fingernail polish.

Round balls of felt may be made by decorating four- or six oval shapes, sewing them together and stuffing with cotton. These balls definitely will not break. A loop may be stitched on from which to hang the ball.

This kind of decoration, if covered with sufficient metallic thread and glitter, will delight a baby, if hung low on the tree, and there is no danger of breakage.

To achieve a variety of effects, some ornaments may be pinked around the edges. Also, 1/4-inch-wide strips of felt or ribbon, decorated, may be strung round and round the tree.

The most inquisitive child can't harm fabric ornaments. And they pack away easily for next year's tree.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Bruhn's outlaw pack holes up in Bitter, Wyo., isolated by impassable roads during a thaw. One townsman has been killed, several manhandled and the outlaws have seized all the guns and ammunition, including the stock at the store. Dan Murdoch fears for the safety of Paula Preston, daughter of the operator of the lumber yard. He is in love with her, as is Dan's boss, Blaise Starrett, owner of the Star ranch. Blaise has been trying to crowd Hal Crane of the HC ranch out of the valley and now Blaise suggests that there may be "another way" than a range war, now that the outlaws are in town.

XIII

Jack Bruhn stood at the window of the stage station and looked at the town. He could see the general store, the livery stable and a small and neat house on one of the three roads that joined the main highway just beyond the station.

Everywhere he looked each square foot of earth was bottomless mud. No man in his right sense would attempt to ride across this desolate range. Safe enough, Jack thought, but it was the only thing that gave him pleasure.

He saw each man more clearly this morning. Tex, rolling a cigarette, looked peaceful enough, but Jack had known for a long time that Tex had plans for leading this bunch. A wrong word, an order that might anger him, could set that unpredictable personality ablaze and Tex would make his play.

Jack's harsh eyes moved to Juarez Smith. This morning he looked like a treacherous jackal, even though he smiled at some joke Tex had made.

Juarez would side with Tex. He was Tex's shadow and echo, as Tex thought so did Juarez, as Tex acted, Juarez backed him. So count him against you when the showdown comes.

Pace Odium arose from his blankets and strolled to the door, looked out on the street.

He had first seen Pace down in the San Juan country and had dismissed him as a stripling. Then he had seen Pace react to the gibes of two swaggering punchers. They had died, swiftly and violently, and Jack could still see the exultant, savage gleam in those pale eyes.

Somehow you were always glad that Pace Odium held no anger against you. He joyed in killing.

reveled in blood and it was something far and beyond what Jack had seen in other killers. It made you shiver sometimes.

But where would Pace stand if Tex called a showdown? Jack didn't know.

Then Gene Hiatt arose and Jack's attention swung to him.

Another kid, another stripling, Jack thought. I can depend on Gene where I'll have to sound Pace out before any trouble breaks. Count one for me, Juarez for Tex, and Pace either way. But Gene Hiatt didn't swing much weight in Jack's mind.

Sure, he had come to the band wanted by a sheriff. But this life didn't fit him. Jack had the feeling Gene was sorry of his bargain and some day they would wake up and find the kid had skipped.

"All right," Vause called. "It's cooked . . . you eat it."

Charley Vause, Jack thought, fair with a gun, but better when he knew he had the whole gang behind him. Vause would probably follow Jack's lead. One more for me, then count Denver. Egan would back Tex and Juarez, thinking they had the advantage.

Jack helped himself to food, a mug of coffee and walked back to his blankets. As he sat cross-legged, eating, his hard eyes moved restlessly from man to man, weighing, judging, accepting, rejecting until it seemed that his thoughts went in a crazy circle.

There was a knock on the door a few moments later and every man's head jerked up in alarm. Jack stood up as Pace walked to the door and opened it.

"Excuse me," Vic Frazin said. Jack grunted.

"Let him in, Pace."

"All of 'em?"

"Just my two sons," Vic said hastily. He stepped aside and Jack recognized Bob Frazin, the older boy. The other was about 14, a stocky, awkward kid who looked around in excitement and open admiration. Vic placed his hand on the lad's shoulder, gave Jack an ingratiating smile.

"This is Art — my youngest. Helps me at the store and he'll grow up to be a fine merchant some day." Vim smiled.

Art edged toward Charley Vause, his eyes resting a long time on the walnut grip of the holstered pistol.

"You're really an outlaw, mister?"

Charley blinked, glanced at Jack, then gave the kid a twisted grin.

"Sure, didn't you know?"

"Art!" Vic said sharply, "mind your manners." He returned to Jack. "I wondered if we could have the keys to the store. Won't be many come, of course, but they do need the things we have to sell. No harm in it, is there?"

Jack fished the keys from his pocket. He gave them to Vic and then looked over at Hiatt.

"Go with 'em, Gene. Give the store another check. You might hang around to see that they don't pull a trick."

Vic and Bob slogged ahead, but the boy stayed close to Gene, having a hard time with the going but trying to give all of his admiring attention to Gene.

"What's it like to be an outlaw, Mister?" the boy asked suddenly.

"It's . . . well, you wouldn't like it," Gene said in a strained voice. (To Be Continued)

Benton Beats W. Frankfort, 13-6

Host Benton beat West Frankfort, 13 to 6, yesterday to tie Centralia for the South Seven football championship. The two teams, which tied 7-7 when they met, beat all other outfalls in the conference.

The Red Birds, last in the conference, proved a stubborn foe for the rangers.

Benton went ahead 6-0 on Jim Rhodes' plunge in the first quarter but Francis Florian tied the count early in the last frame on a two-yard smash. However, Benton came back to win when Jim McLean went over for a tally on a six-yard run and Don Mace plunged for the extra point.

Final South Seven standings:

Bull Dogs Open Cage Season at Carmi Saturday

Coach Dotson to Take Squad of 14 For Varsity Tilt

The Harrisburg Bull Dog basketball team opens its season tomorrow night when it travels to Carmi for a non-conference tilt.

The Bull Dogs of Carmi will be a rugged outfit with plenty of height this year. The team, coached by John McDougal, gave Shawneetown its only defeat last year in a sectional tournament game played here.

Harrisburg's new cage mentor, John Dotson, has been working

Carmi Drops Cage Opener at Paris, 61-54

Carmi went into a last-period scoring lapse at Paris yesterday afternoon and dropped its cage opener to the Tigers, 61-54. Paris was trailing 51-50 entering the final frame but outscored the White County aggregation, 11-3, in the last frame. Leon Myers was high scorer for Carmi with 21 points. Mike McCombs had 17.

diligently with a squad of upper classmen and will take a squad of 14 boys to Carmi with him for the varsity tilt.

Coach Dotson said he would start Wayne Stone, Bill Henshaw, Benny Fulkerson, Ray Hassett and probably John Zeigler. Others who will see action are Jim and Charles Cummins and Bill Yates. Also making the trip will be Melvin Hicks, Gary Aldridge, Eddie Price, Don Biggs, J. L. Robertson and Mickey Stone.

Carmi, which finished last season with a 23-7 mark, has a group of tall boys with experience. They are 6-2 Mike McCombs, 6-2 Leon Myers, 6-2 Larry Bell, 6-3 Shelby Hankins and 6-1 Billy Lasater.

Coach McDougal has said the Carmi outfit "will be a pretty good club."

Lawrence Caluffetti is coaching the Bull Pups and Ben Chamness the freshman team.

The Pups will play a preliminary to the varsity tilt at Carmi. Caluffetti said he would start Ron Maynard, Don Pickford, Phil Kane, Dale Wasson, and either Bob Pavonis or Gary Karnes. Others who will make the trip are John Stone, Harold Beal, Carl Fleming and Gary Stricklin.

Celtics Open Up Eastern Lead

By United Press
The Boston Celtics have the Philadelphia Warriors' "number" and that's why they are leading the Eastern Division race today in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics, paced by back-court ace Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman, handed the Warriors their second defeat in as many nights Thursday, 101-78, to open up a two and one-half game lead. The Fort Wayne Pistons beat the Rochester Royals, 104-102, and the Minneapolis Lakers buried the Syracuse Nationals, 111-78, in other games.

Cousy tallied 29 points and Sharman netted 30 to lead the barrage of baskets against the defending champion Warriors. Boston led by 73-67 as the fourth period opened, but then Cousy, Sharman and rookie Tom Heinsohn went to work and the Warriors never came close again. Paul Arizin canned 29 for the losers.

Mal Hutchins' last-minute long shot gave the Pistons their win over the Royals after Fort Wayne had battled uphill all the way following an 11-point deficit at halftime. Hutchins wound up the leading scorer for the winners with 18, but Dick Ricketts was the game's leading point producer with 25.

The Lakers, scoring almost at will in the last two periods, broke open what was a fairly close game to win going away. Minneapolis led by only two points, 43-41, at intermission, but produced 68 points in the last two periods. Big Clyde Lovellette and Dick Garmauer scored 22 points each to pace the winners.

Packers Upset Lions, 24 to 20

DETROIT AP—The Green Bay Packers, unable to beat the Chicago Bears in two games this year, gave their arch-rivals a big boost Thursday when quarterback Tobin Rote pitched the Packers into a 24-20 upset victory over the Detroit Lions.

Down 13-3 going into the fourth quarter, Rote tossed two scoring aerials and slid off tackle for another in a game played in 30-degree temperature and an on-again blizzard.

The loss gave the Bears sole possession of first place in the NFL's Western Division pending the outcome of Sunday's battle with the Eastern Division leading New York Giants.

U.S. Sweeps Up Three Gold Medals in Olympics in Record-Shattering Day

Score Victories In High Jump, Weight Lifting

By LEO H. PETERSEN

United Press Sports Editor
MELBOURNE AP — Inspired American athletes swept up three of the first four gold medals in the 1956 Olympic Games today when slender Charley Dumas of Los Angeles soared to a record victory in the high jump and mighty little Chuck Vinci of York, Pa., outlifted the world's best bantamweight title.

The third came when Isaac Burger of Brooklyn won the featherweight title.

Rose Bowl-Bound Oregon State Held to 14-14 Tie

By United Press

Coach Tommy Prothro, who worked a "little miracle" to get Oregon State into the Rose Bowl, will have to work a "big miracle" if he expects the Beavers to beat Iowa in the New Year's Day classic.

The Beavers, who will carry a 7-2 record into the Rose Bowl, were held to a 14-14 tie by arch-rival Oregon Thursday in their traditional Turkey Day tussle. Considering their loss to Iowa in a regular-season game, the future doesn't appear very bright for the Beavers.

However, Prothro, now in his second season at Oregon State, has five weeks and four days to work on his charges, who have averaged only 18.9 points per game while allowing their opponents an average of 13.1 points per contest.

As in most of its games, the tussle with Oregon was close all the way. Only in its games with Washington State and UCLA, which it won by scores of 21-0 and 21-7, respectively, did Oregon State enjoy any breathing room. Against the Webfoots, State twice led by a touchdown, but both times the lead vanished.

South Carolina Victor

While Oregon State's fortunes were dipping, South Carolina's Gamcocks improved their chances for an Orange Bowl bid by defeating Wake Forest, 13-0.

It was South Carolina's seventh victory in 10 starts. The game marked the season's finale for the Gamcocks, who now can sit back and see how Duke and Clemson fare in Saturday games. The Blue Devils and the Tigers are the other Atlantic Coast Conference teams with a chance to gain the remaining Orange Bowl berth against Colorado.

In other Thanksgiving Day games, Maryland and Cornell salvaged some glory out of a night-mare season, Miami of Ohio defeated the University of Cincinnati, 27-13. Brown upset Colgate, 20-0, Virginia Tech walloped Virginia Military, 45-0, Richmond squeezed past William and Mary, 6-0, and Utah downed Utah State, 29-7.

Maryland overcame a two-touchdown deficit to defeat North Carolina, 25-14, and gain only its second win of the year in 10 starts, while Cornell, defeated in all of its eight previous starts, picked on Pennsylvania for a 20-7 victory in their 63rd meeting.

More Bowl Bidding

Here is how the situation stands for other bowl hopefuls:

SUGAR BOWL — Tennessee, which more than likely will represent the Southeastern Conference, plays Kentucky on Saturday. Georgia Tech, Southern Methodist and Baylor are the other hopefuls. Tech meets Florida, and SMU plays Baylor on Saturday.

COTTON BOWL — Texas Christian, leading Southwest Conference candidate, meets Rice, while SMU and Baylor are others with a chance. Guest team possibilities Lion dressing room after the Packers battle, saw little hope of the Giants upsetting the rampaging Bears.

And with the Packer defeat went a big chunk of Detroit hopes to become the first team in NFL history to bounce from the cellar to the title in one year. The Lions already hold the dubious distinction of being the first club to win a flag one year and finish last the next.

"We played our worst game of the season," Parker said. "But you can't take anything away from that Rote. If he played like that against everybody the Packers would be on top of the league."

weight strong men.

In a record-shattering day indicating the XVI Olympiad may well produce the greatest number of new marks in history. All gold medal winners and the second and third-place performers in each of those events surpassed Olympic records set in 1952.

The other two gold medals fell to Vladimir Kuts, the sturdy Russian sailor, who bagged the 10,000-meters run in the new Olympic time of 28 minutes, 45.6 seconds, and to shapely Olga Fikotova of Czechoslovakia, who joined the record-setting parade with a toss of 176 feet, 1 1/2 inches in the women's discus.

In the weight-lifting hall, Vinci set three new Olympic marks en route to his bantamweight crown. And as darkness descended over the vast Melbourne Cricket Club Stadium Dumas climaxed the day by slithering over the cross bar at 6 feet, 11 1/4 inches. It was a full 3 inches better than the Olympic record set by Walt Davis of the U. S. in the 1952 games at Helsinki.

Except for a surprise defeat of Yale's eight-oared crew, an upset that injures but doesn't eliminate America's chances in that event, the first full day of Olympic competition was a spectacular success for the Yanks.

Sprinters Ira Murchison of Chicago and Bobby Morrow of Harlingen, Tex., tied the Olympic 100-meter dash record of 10.3 seconds as they qualified for the semifinals along with Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan.

In addition, all three U. S. 400-meter hurdlers won qualifying heats, all three 800-meter runners qualified for the semi-finals, American crews won heats in seven different rowing classes, and George Lambert of Sioux City, Iowa, shot into a surprise lead in the modern pentathlon by winning the cross country riding phase.

Dumas, a 19-year-old student at Compton Junior College and the only man in the world who has cleared 7 feet, had to make 14 leaps to sweep the high jump crown from Chilla Porter of Australia. Porter finished second at 6 feet, 10 1/2 inches and Igor Kachkarov of Russia was third at 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches—also better than the old Olympic mark.

Led by big Bill Russell of San Francisco, the U. S. basketball team opened its title defense by walloping Japan, 98-40. Russell was in action for only 13 minutes but he banged in 20 points and brought the game under control after the Japanese had shot into an early 17-13 lead in the first half.

Rosiclare Trips Shawneetown Indians, 109-60

Bears Hot in Team's First Conference Tilt

The Rosiclare Bears, in swampy Shawneetown Wednesday, became the first local area basketball team to break the "100-point barrier," running up a 109-60 margin of victory. The game was played on the winners' floor.

Not only was Rosiclare in fine fettle on offense, but the defense also was clicking beautifully. The 44 attempts Shawneetown had from the field, was just one more than the 43 field goals Rosiclare made.

Rosiclare scored 20 or more points in each of the four quarters, topping the spree with a 34 point fourth frame. In passing the 100 mark, the Bears had a hot .518 field goal percentage on 43 hits in 83 tries. In the third frame Rosiclare hit 13 of 17 for a terrific .765 average and started out the last quarter near perfect, connecting on 10 for their first 12 efforts.

Terry Nelson and Norman Conger waged a scoring battle with the former winning out 24 to 23 points. Bob Stewart was Shawneetown's top point maker with 19.

Shawneetown had a good .409 shooting average with 18 hits in 44 attempts.

The game was Rosiclare's first venture into Greater Egyptian conference play this season and was Shawneetown's second GEC game and loss of the year.

Shawneetown plays outside the conference at Grayville tonight. Tuesday Rosiclare goes to Cave-in-Rock for a GEC contest.

Rosiclare also won the preliminary Wednesday from Shawneetown, 71-35.

Small Appliances are Welcome Gifts Which Bring Year-Round Gratitude

THE LUCKY-TEENAGER who gets a portable television set for Christmas will have something to be happy about every day of the year. At left is Philco's new model that can be used anywhere. Right, Philco's electric blanket comes in twin or regular size and assorted colors. Dual temperature controls give personal choice warmth to husband and wife. Westinghouse offers toasters in five colors with plastic end walls, below.

Appliance gifts brighten the home, but they also cheer the homemaker who receives as a gift something she was expecting to have to budget for.

Each year bright new appliances appear on the counters to satisfy the impulse to give the home a gift.

Prominent this year are the small and smaller television sets. These are aimed at the homes that already have a big living room set, but can use a smaller one for the kitchen, a youngster's room or the playroom. Some of these are so small they can go on an office desk. Noteworthy is Philco's Seventener. The title refers both to the screen size and its attractiveness for kids that age. It's portable, with a fold-down antenna. Small appliances that add convenience to the kitchen are freshly-styled and often in colors this year. Electric frying pans, griddles, deep fryers and toasters are ideal for gifts. Westinghouse's new toaster comes in their confection colors and has plastic end-walls.

GE's new toaster has a tiny broiler at the bottom for doing muffins and other too-thick pieces of bread up brown, right at the table. Other toasters range from single-slice ones to those suitable for large families.

A new electric blanket may be just the thing for the couple who struggles over the blanket. By Philco, it can be snapped into a contour shape. It has dual controls, to suit the needs of the individual partner. It comes in rose, coral, yellow, blue and green.

Electric coffee pots, both percolators and vacuum ones, become essential to those who have used them. A suitable gift for husband to give a wife, some can be set the night before and simply plugged in or put on the automatic timer, to give mama a few extra winks of sleep. Sunbeam makes a whole line of these.

Homes of wealthy families of 17th century Holland had rooms decorated with clay tile pictures done by great artists.

Santa Rules in Youngsters' Own Corner

Most children want to give Christmas presents to all their friends. This wish to share should be encouraged but preventing children from becoming discouraged as the cost mounts is hard to do.

The answer is a special hospitality corner for the youngster. There, purchased or homemade candies, cookies or self-designed tree decorations may be piled to be given to visitors.

A special decoration for this corner not only makes the children feel honored, it also keeps them out from under foot. Some have their small trees that they decorate each year.

And here are instructions for making a Santa Claus decoration that are easy for youngsters to follow with a little help. It can hold the little presents.

Santa's body is a giant-size dry cereal box. It's covered with red paper and secured with cellophane tape. A narrow roll of construction paper is taped down to the box on each side to form the arms. Small, white mitten hands may be taped on. A band of decorated Christmas Scotch tape goes around the middle for the belt.

Legs that stick straight out in front, so Santa sits on his cereal-box bottom, are made the same way.

A small - size paper plate makes the face. It's taped on to the front of the box. Cotton makes the beard and hair. Features are colored tape. The box top may be arranged to open behind the one-dimensional head.
